

WHOLE SCHOOL SEND RESOURCES

Whole School SEND, hosted by nasen (the National Association for Special Educational Needs), is funded by the Department for Education to deliver their SEND Schools' Workforce Support Contract.

Membership is FREE to schools and provides access to a comprehensive suite of materials, including a library of resources and publications, as well as recordings of CPD webinars.

These materials and resources can supplement support provided by HIAS and are a source of high-quality materials for induction, refresher and ongoing training for individuals, departments or the whole team.

In addition, Whole School SEND run regional Professional Development Groups which support teachers to develop their own school improvement projects and provide opportunities to work with and receive peer support from colleagues in other local authorities and the expertise of Whole School SEND regional leads.

Whole School SEND also provide free online training in conducting SEND reviews, giving you the skills to carry out reviews of SEND provision both in your own setting and on a peer-to-peer basis.

HIAS encourages all SENCOs to sign up for free membership to ensure you have ready access to this suite of support materials. To register click here.

Whole School SEND

Whole School SEND (WSS) is a consortium of charities, schools and organisations. We are committed to helping children and young people with special educational needs and/or disabilities (SEND) and learning differences reach their full potential.

Hosted by nasen, we – together with the Education and Training Foundation and the Autism Education Trust – deliver the Department for Education’s Universal SEND Services programme, and a randomised control trial into the use of the SEND Review Guide in mainstream secondary schools, which is funded by the Education Endowment Foundation.

National provision, regional context

Understanding the local context is crucial to improving national SEND provision. Our regional team of SEND leaders brings together school-based practitioners to support prioritisation of SEND within their own schools and settings.

Events

We offer CPD on a wide range of topics, hosted by our regional teams in partnership with highly respected guest speakers from the world of education. All our CPD is fully funded by the Department for Education and free to attend.

Resources

We regularly publish free resources to support our members with all aspects of SEND provision. See overleaf for details of some of our most popular resources.
